

A research-based comprehensive reading curriculum for learners in elementary through high school+ receiving special education services. Each of the 30+ thematic units in the program include rich-media and explicit lesson plans for 6-8+ weeks of classroom instruction that save teacher's time and help students soar in their literacy learning. The instructional materials, assessment materials, custom videos, and leveled books are time saving for educators, elevate instructional practice and are drawn from Erickson & Koppenhaver's Comprehensive Literacy for All: Teaching Students with Significant Disabilities to Read and Write (2019).

What's Included:

Alphabet & Phonics Learning

Learning Letters, Learning Letters Plus, Making Words and Word Study aim to nurture phonemic awareness, improve reading readiness, and develop essential literacy skills for learners using engaging and interactive strategies.

Assessment / Progress Monitoring / Placement Tools

Readtopia offers a variety of progress monitoring tools, including formative and cumulative assessments, to help you plan and provide the most effective differentiated instruction for your learners.

Graphic Novels

The graphic novels are expertly crafted to captivate learners through both shared and guided reading experiences, as well as to encourage independent reading habits. Each thematic unit includes an adapted graphic novel written at up to seven levels to meet the widest range of learners in a classroom.

Communication Supports

In collaboration with Dr. Karen Erickson, Dr. Caroline Musselwhite, and LessonPix, included are a series of 28 fringe vocabulary communication boards, as well as a 48-word core vocabulary board for use across all Readtopia units.

Functional Life Skills

At all unit levels, Readtopia integrates basic life skills alongside the academic skills we teach. This approach guides learners in making text-to-self connections and renders the teaching of academic content more functional.

Lesson 11

1 Elena is lonely. She looks sad. Find the picture that shows this.

2 Let's say that you feel lonely. Playing a game can help. Which picture shows friends playing a game?

3 Other things might also help. Find the ones that might help you. Draw a circle around them.

Informational Text / Close Reading

Readtopia's approach to informational text and close reading weaves together two crucial aspects of literacy development: understanding different text structures and delving deeply into the content itself.
